I deeply respect you as a human being... Some day I'm gonna make you Mrs Buck Turgidson!

I didn't really know where to put this, but I think it should go somewhere.

Roundabout last October sometime, I was staking Vonkin for NL50 on Cake and then later Carbon Poker. He had about $1000 that I sent him, and according to his spreadsheet (which I have since lost access to), he was down like 50 bucks or something tiny.

I also sent him a total of $1200 over two transfers to play 1/2 cash live a few months ago also.

He never got back to me about the live stake, either to refund what he didn't lose or even to tell me that he lost it all.

A couple weeks ago JCarver messaged me asking if I wanted to buy vonkin's live makeup.

"But Jcarver, vonkin is already in makeup to me!"

Vonkin had apparently just ran off and gotten staked by other people while being in makeup to me, and never asked me anything about it or I guess thought it was totally cool to just freeroll everyone for makeup.

When I heard this I attempted to at least get the $1000 back that I had on Carbon, because I didn't think anything had happened to it unless he actually blatantly withdrew it and stole it. As of the last time I could access our spreadsheet, as I said, he had been updating it somewhat regularly and was only down a small amount.

I have sent him several texts, as have JCarver and Chiyochan, and I have attempted to contact him on Skype, and he has not gotten back to me at all. In my last text I told him "I will have to post everywhere I can think of that you have stolen my money unless you at least get back to me." The next day he deleted his facebook account.

Anyway I'm pretty sure now he's just turned out to be a complete scumbag. He hasn't posted here since October either, so I don't know if banning him or whatever would really even serve any purpose, I just wanted everyone to know in case he does show up again or try and get money transfers or anything with anyone, don't do it.

BE SAFE YOU KIDS

I mean I have e-mails from Paypal and Aced proving I transferred him money. I technically cannot prove that he didn't lose the live money (fairly believable considering it was like only 6 buyins for the stakes I was sending him to play) or the Aced money (less believable since it would be 20 buyins at NL50).

Again, like, it is technically possible he just lost it and never updated me in months but it's a lot more likely especially with the complete lack of responding to anyone and the fact that he's run off with debts to other people and closed his FB that he's just a thief.

About staking people for cash games, is it a good investment? (Not in this case obviously) but I like to stake people for tournaments because each tournament has a set amount that you buy in for and that's it. It has a set end time and you win $X for $Y investment. An open ended cash game stake seems like a lot of trust would be necessary.

i staked vonkin in 2/5 games from september til a few weeks ago. he lost maybe 6k-7k over the time i staked him, which isn't particularly unreasonable and is possibly exactly what happened. from the start, he was really bad at keeping track of wins/losses/"expenses" (sigh), which would be acceptable if he was perfectly honest (and a solid winner). i eventually heard a few things that worried me about how he was treating the stake/stake money, and paired w his sometimes weeks-delayed updates, i eventually felt it wasn't worth staking him any more and tried to sell him to prodan, bringing all this mess to light. after he vanished and we started talking openly, people that were also in florida have said that he played things besides 2/5 with stake money (08, tournaments, 5/10), sometimes while drinking, most of which i had no idea about and i assume i was being freerolled at worst or joyrided on at best.

anyway, i dont really have any evidence of anything besides him being a really shitty horse but i wouldn't be surprised at much at this point.

His Carbon name is rrrrrrrrrekop

Actually I had forgotten his merge name until I looked it up in my e-mail. Checking his PTR does seem to confirm that he lost the whole amount, HOWEVER

I was staking him for NL25 and NL50 I believe, and he actually made a little bit of money at those stakes.

He lost it all playing 4/10 limit, 10/20 limit, and 1/2 limit 😊

To be honest I had kinda forgotten Merge had been tracked on PTR while he was on there since for many years of me playing on Merge it wasn't, otherwise I would have looked it up sooner.

Still, 4/10 and 10/20 headsup limit, good job vonkin.

To be fair to the shithead, I think PTR reports starting 6max and FR tables as playing HU, since it has me playing HU and I never did. Still, what a loser.

Well there's a reason that's "what you can tell" because you're not fucking involved in any way shape or form and actually i kind of wish you weren't involved with anything related to pitr because you're one of the most fucking annoying posters since albinoskunk. cool dude some floor at a live game thinks you are good at poker guess what everybody is terrible as shit and wouldn't know talent if it hit and run the poker room for all the money inside it.

but w/e. of course there aren't live staking threads for cash games you wouldn't trust a fucking random person in like any capacity at live cash games. Trusting them not to blast off money, trusting them not to steal, to report results accurately, to not tip a bunch, not get wasted at the table, not to get robbed on the way out. Everyone knows the risks associated. You don't know shit about this situation, about anyone involved especially vonkin, about staking for anything, or about how to play, think, or post about poker. so fuck off.

Hi guys,

Just to let you know I've been dealing with this. Unfortunately the thread was posted literally a few hours prior to me heading to Miami for the weekend, so I was unable to really do anything about it until I got back. Despite that, I got in contact with Stefan that night to give him a heads up about it.

Since I've been back, I've been working privately on the matter.

First with the admins to make sure we can get a permaban. As it technically all happened off the forums it's usually "caveat emptor" - but I've been able to get permission for a permaban on vonkin.

Second I attempted to get in touch with vonkin to try and resolve this amicably - if I could have gotten the people their money back, I would have been much happier than a simple permaban. Unfortunately he has not got in contact with me.

I will be requesting a permaban for vonkin right now. On top of that, I will be forwarding any and all information I have on him to Stefan Prodan. I will also be contacting the poker rooms I work with that vonkin has an account at(Cake, Carbon, Cellsino) to inform them of this, and hopefully have his account closed at them. If Full Tilt ever comes back I'll be doing the same.

On top of that vonkin has numerous referred players via Rakeback Resource. I have changed that so that in the future if any of his referrals make money, the money will go to Stefan.

Stark raving sane.

Now there's an elegant solution. Too bad the current political climate makes it less likely it'll work, but it's still a good idea.
